SCSU FAMILY DAY AT THE FESTIVAL: JUNE 14, 2009

CIRCUS $25
U.S. Premiere by Barabbas Theatre Company

June 14 @ 3pm

University Theater, 222 York Street

Circus is a joyous physical production that will captivate audiences both young and old. Inspired by Federico Fellini's 1950's film La Strada, this charming and magical play tells the story of small-time circus act Gubu and Harle. They are one man down... but the show must go on. Now is your chance to enjoy this high-flying, heart-warming story of love and loss at the Circus. No late seating. Best suited for ages 8 and up. *Tickets subject to availability.

THEY MIGHT BE GIANTS

June 14 @ 6pm

Elm City Stage, New Haven Green

FREE

Bring the kids to hear the Grammy Award-winning band They Might Be Giants! Picnic on the New Haven Green and enjoy rock duo John Linnell and John Flansburgh's children's songs.

SCSU ALUMNI AT THE FESTIVAL: JUNE 25, 2009

Ideas Event: Confronting the Global Economic Crisis

FREE

June 25 @ 5:30pm

Yale University Art Gallery, 1111 Chapel Street

What will the global economic outlook be this summer? What progress will have been made? What impact is it having on our daily lives- both financially and psychologically? As the weeks and months unfold, and nerve-wracking moments of hope alternate with anxiety, the Festival invites some of the major players and keenest observers to share their predictions and wisdom.

DIDO & AENEAS $48/$36/$20/$10
Mark Morris Dance Group

June 25 @ 8pm

Shubert Theater, 247 College Street

Mark Morris Dance Group's Dido & Aeneas gracefully marries Henry Purcell's 17th century opera based on the classic mythology of Virgil's Aeneid with contemporary movement in a lush spectacle of extraordinary dance, exquisite singing, and stately sets. Morris will be conducting the live music for this stunning dance opera, often considered the choreographer's best work. *Tickets subject to availability.
