

University Information Technology Committee (UITC)
Southern Connecticut State University

As the central advisory organization, the UITC serves three primary purposes:

1. Advocacy –The UITC offers a forum for identifying university-wide needs, including administrative and academic, that can be enabled by technology solutions, including information management, applications, technology infrastructure and services. Members of the UITC serve as the sounding board for the constitutes and bring concerns and issues to the attention of the Information Technology Department. Members of the UITC also serve as the advocates for the Information Technology Department that promote and encourage desirable behavior in the use of technology.
2. Advisory – Members of the UITC serve as strategic advisors to the Chief Information Officer and her staff. UITC members participate in the development and implementation of Information Technology standards, policies, operation processes and procedures. UITC makes recommendations to the CIO on technology investments, resource allocation, and project prioritization in accordance to University’s strategic goals.
3. Assessment – Members of the UITC work with CIO and her staff to develop meaningful measures to monitor and evaluate quality of the services and ensure that Information Technology missions are attained.

Members of the UITC are appointed by the President. The initial appointment is a two-year term. The appointment may be renewed once. The Chair of the Committee will be appointed by the President and works closely with the Chief Information Officer to set Committee’s agenda. The Committee will convene at least twice per semester or as needed. The make-up of the UITC is as follows:

- Six faculty members (two members from the School of Arts and Sciences and one member each from other four schools)
- Chair, Faculty Senate Technology Committee
- Seven administrative staff
- Two student representatives (one graduate and one undergraduate)
- Chief Information Officer (ex-officio)
