

The Center for Coastal and Marine Studies

The Eighth Annual Long Island Sound Seminar Series

Wednesday, March 2nd, 1:00-2:00 pm, Jennings Hall 127

Shannon Ciston

Assistant Professor, Industrial, Systems, and Multidisciplinary Engineering, University of New Haven,
New Haven, CT

Nanomaterials as Emerging Pollutants, and Their Impact on Long Island Sound Biofilms

Wednesday, March 30th, 1:00-2:00 pm, Jennings Hall 127

Judy Preston

Long Island Sound Study Outreach Program Coordinator, CT Sea Grant College Program
Groton, CT

Protecting Riparian Buffers in the Connecticut River Estuary: Rationale, Research and Regulation

Tuesday, April 12th, 5:30-6:30 pm, Jennings Hall 335

Carmela Cuomo

Associate Professor, Biology and Environmental Science, University of New Haven, New Haven, CT

Potential Production of Biofuels using Long Island Sound Macroalgae

Wednesday, April 20th, 1:00-2:00 pm, Jennings Hall 127

Hans Laufer

Professor Emeritus, Molecular and Cell Biology, UCONN, Storrs, CT

Effects of Alkylphenols, Endocrine Disrupting Pollutants, on Lobster Molting and Larval Development

The Eighth Annual Long Island Sound Seminar Series is sponsored by the Center for Coastal and Marine Studies and is supported by an SCSU Faculty Development Grant.

Questions: Vince Breslin (392-6602), Jim Tait (392-5838) or Dwight Smith (392-6222)

Refreshments Will Be Served