

Werth Center for Coastal and Marine Studies

The Twelfth Annual Environmental Issues in Long Island Sound Seminar Series

Tuesday, March 31, 335 Jennings Hall; 5:30 pm – 6:30 pm

Dr. Jennifer O'Donnell

CEO/Principal Engineer, Coastal Ocean Analytics
Research Faculty, Department of Marine Sciences, UCONN

How Wet Will We Get: Coastal Processes and Shoreline Change in Long Island Sound

Wednesday, April 1, 127 Jennings Hall; 1:00 pm – 2:00 pm

Dr. Kelly Lombardo

Assistant Professor of Marine Sciences, Department of Marine Sciences, UCONN

Winter Coastal Storms in a Changing Climate

Wednesday, April 8, 127 Jennings Hall; 1:00 pm – 2:00 pm

Ms. Kristin DeRosia-Banick

Lead Analyst, Shellfish Sanitation Program (Western Region)
Bureau of Aquaculture, Connecticut Department of Agriculture

Pathogenic Vibrio parahaemolyticus in Shellfish Growing Areas: An Emerging Hazard

Tuesday, April 21, 102 Davis Hall; 3:00 pm – 4:00 pm

Dr. Jarret Byrnes (co-sponsored by the SCSU Biology Department)

Assistant Professor of Biology, University of Massachusetts Boston

The Future of Floating Forests in a Changing World

The Twelfth Annual Long Island Sound Seminar Series is sponsored by the Center for Coastal and Marine Studies and is supported by an SCSU Faculty Development Grant.

Questions: Vince Breslin (392-6602), Jim Tait (392-5838) or Sean Grace (392-6216)

Refreshments Will Be Served