

The Werth Center for Coastal and Marine Studies

The Fourteenth Annual Long Island Sound Seminar Series

Thursday, March 2nd, 1:00 - 2:00 pm, Jennings Hall 114

Koty Sharp

Assistant Professor, Biology, Marine Biology and Environmental Science, Roger Williams University, Bristol, RI

Exploring New England's Reefs: Using the Coral Astrangia poculata to Shed Light on Tropical Coral Microbiomes

Wednesday, March 29th, 1:00 - 2:00 pm, Academic Science Building 210

William Fitzgerald

Professor Emeritus, UCONN Avery Point, Groton, CT

Mercury Cycling in the Coastal Zone

Wednesday, April 19th, 1:00 - 2:00 pm, Jennings Hall 127

David Kozak

Senior Coastal Planner, CT Department of Energy and Environmental Protection

Connecticut's Coastal Marshes – Their Origins, Significance and Expected Response to Sea Level Rise

The Fourteenth Annual Long Island Sound Seminar Series is sponsored by the Werth Center for Coastal and Marine Studies and is supported by an SCSU Faculty Development Grant.

Questions: Vince Breslin (392-6602), Jim Tait (392-5838) or Sean Grace (392-6216)

Refreshments Will Be Served