

The Werth Center for Coastal and Marine Studies Presents:

Fifteenth Annual Seminar Series on Environmental Issues in Long Island Sound

Wednesday, February 28th, 1-2 pm, SCI 210

Dr. Colette Feehan

Assistant Professor, Biology, Montclair State University

Phase Shifts in Marine Ecosystems Driven by Storms Disease, and Melting Glaciers

Wednesday, March 28th, 1-2 pm, SCI 210

Gary Wikfors

Chief, Aquaculture Sustainability Branch/Lab Director,
NOAA Northeast Fisheries Science Center

*The Integrated Pest Management Model as a Framework for Aquaculture Harmful Algal Bloom
(Red Tide) Management*

Wednesday, April 4th, 1-2 pm, SCI 210

Dr. Sean Grace

Associate Professor, Biology, Southern Connecticut
State University

*Interspecific Competition on Changing
Temperate Reefs*

Wednesday, April 18th, 1-2 pm, SCI 210

Dr. David Hudson

Research Scientist, Maritime Aquarium at Norwalk

Incorporating the Public into Doing Science and Conservation: Lessons and Projections from 20 Years of Biodiversity Monitoring in the Long Island Sound